

Netgem to showcase award winning home entertainment solutions at IBC 2016

LONDON, UK – XX XX 2016 – Netgem, the award-winning end-to-end video entertainment provider and global leader in #TelcoTV solutions, will demonstrate a suite of multiscreen and connected home entertainment solutions at IBC 2016 in Amsterdam in September.

Encouraging attendees to experience its leading home entertainment solutions, Netgem will be demonstrating a number of first-to-market deployments to telecoms operators – including EE in the UK – where viewers can choose to watch live and recorded programming on their TV, mobile and tablet devices simultaneously. This includes full personalisation and social abilities built into the heart of the solution. The proposition incorporates services that deliver a wide range of content, through partnerships secured by Netgem, to allow access to live and on demand services across multiple devices.

Netgem will also be demonstrating a new and innovative technology solution that will enable an enhanced home entertainment and audio experience for consumers. The proposition will deliver connected entertainment capabilities for users whilst in the home. When launched later this year, the solution will enable telecoms operators to open up new entertainment-based revenue streams and gain a competitive advantage by meeting consumer demand for unified connected services.

Commenting on Netgem's presence at IBC 2016 Sylvain Thevenot, managing director of Netgem Europe, said: "Consumers are increasingly demanding fully connected solutions that incorporate all of their home entertainment services. We are using IBC 2016 to underscore how our solutions can enable telecoms operators to meet this challenge through innovative home hub propositions. We will also be demonstrating a new connected home entertainment service that will unify and enhance the user experience in the home."

IBC 2016 will be held on 9-13 September at the RAI in Amsterdam. Visit Netgem at Stand 5.B33.
